A Police Board May Discharge a Policeman

WHEN HE IS MORALLY UNFIT

To Hold the Office-The Supreme Court Disposes of the Wellman Case Finally-State News.

LANSING, MICH., April 22.-Charges of immorality and conduct unbecoming an officer of the peace were proferred some months ago against Patrolman Bert Wellman of Detroit. Among other things he was accused of assaulting an elderly woman. The board of metropolitan police commissioners discharged h m. Their proceeding was reviewed under mandamus by the su-preme court and the order of dismissal set seide. The opinion stated, however, that this determination by the court would not prevent further proceedings on the part of the board under properly drawn charges and specifications. These charges in "proper" form were prepared, and after a hearing, Wellman was found guilty and was again dismissed. The case was a second time taken to the supreme court on a writ of certiorari, it being alleged that the offense charged is beyond the jurisdiction of the board as constituting felony, upon which the board has no jurisdiction to The court in an opinion filed today holds that the question of Wellman's fitness for office involves an inquiry as to whether he was or was not guilty of an explanation. The y. m. was called the criminal offensi charged. To the home by the death of a relative. extent that it is necessary to determine the question of fitness, the board had a right to enter on the trial of the ques-tion of his guilt. To take any other view, the opinion says, would be to hold that the more unit a patrolman was for office, the less subject he would be to discipline.
